Big Picture Fest returns this March

Local and international artists leave their mark on Frankston City

The Big Picture Fest is returning from 22–24 March, bigger and better than ever with an all-star line-up, including five of the world's best contemporary street artists from Germany, Italy, New Zealand and France, together with local artists.

The three-day festival is designed to bring our creative community together and raise awareness of our thriving city centre as new large-scale walls are painted live around the CBD during March. Explore Frankston City's street art scene by joining one of the free Street Art Walking Tours taking place, held in conjunction with

The Big Picture Fest. The FREE tours will run two times a day from Thursday 21 to Sunday 24 March. During the tour you will be able to watch these amazing artists at work, showcasing their diverse artistic talent and style. See page 4 for more detail. The event is one of many festivals and events coming to Frankston in 2019.

Party in the Park is a wonderful day out for the family, soak up some amazing local music at the Frankston Music Festival or enjoy the outdoor cinema experience while the weather is still warm at Botanika Cinema. ## Mayor's message

Hard rubbish is coming

I would like to thank everyone for their patience with the delay to our annual financial year free hard waste collection service. The service will now begin in April, with specific collection dates mailed out to residents two weeks prior. The introduction of a new provider in 2018 meant we would need to alter the usual collection dates, to avoid a non-recurring cost of $500,000. Council felt the additional cost to keep the collection in November was an unreasonable use of ratepayer funds — better spent on providing other community services. The annual financial year collection is a wonderful free service and I urge everyone to take the opportunity to declutter responsibly. See page 16 for more information.

Building on our reputation as a holiday destination

Council is continually investing in local tourism, to ensure everyone knows just how much there is to see and do in our wonderful city. Recently, we purchased a mobile visitor information van to attend major festivals, events, markets and trade shows both within and outside the city. Since September last year, we have also had 35 business from Frankston City and the Mornington Peninsula sign on as Visit Frankston Tourism Partners.

Quite often it's our residents who are unaware of the hidden treasures within their own neighbourhood, so we ensure our tourism services target locals as much as they do potential tourists. The Frankston Visitor Information Centre offers a fantastic service to locals and visitors alike. There are so many amazing things to see and do all year round in our city, let's make sure we are all participating in what's on offer.

Recognising half a century of achievement

I would like to recognise the incredible contribution of local GP, Dr John Dickman to our city, spanning almost 50 years. I had the pleasure of presenting Dr Dickman with a Recognition Award at the December Council Meeting, for his many years of dedicated service to the area — both medically and as a highly-active volunteer in many local not-for-profit organisations. Dr Dickman was also one of three individuals recognised at our Australia Day Citizens of the Year Awards, as our Senior Citizen of the Year. Read more on page 6.

Message from the CEO

Council is currently preparing the draft 2019–2020 budget and we will release it for comment shortly. The budget will again deliver all services and continue to provide more infrastructure for the community.

We are now focusing our advocacy efforts on the upcoming federal election, with Council seeking commitments from all federal candidates. Your support is vital to press for additional funding and we will look to hold candidate forums again, so that you can be better informed on the election priorities of candidates.

Our major events and festivals have again showcased what a wonderful community we have. I hope that you are enjoying these events and there are plenty more scheduled for the coming months, with more details in this edition of Frankston City News.

2019 Artist Line Up

SatOne @satone_satone_satone

From Germany, SatOne's art is abstract in nature and an expression of sensitivity present in objects, but which can be 'seen' only on an instinctive level.

Peeta @peeta_ead

Peeta, also known as Manuel Di Rita, has been a graffiti artist since 1993 and currently lives in Venice. His work explores the potential of sculptural lettering and anamorphism, both in painting and in sculpture.

Phat One & Diva

Charles Williams Ngāti Kahungunu, Ngāi Tūhoe, Ngapuhi @charles_phat1md

Janine Williams Ngāti Paoa, Ngāti Whātua o Kaipara -@janine_divatmd

Working and travelling extensively throughout Aotearoa (New Zealand) and around the globe this team create visual stories connecting them to the whenua (land), korero (stories) and to the tangata whenua (local people) they encounter along the way.

Lucy Lucy @lucylucyone

Currently residing in Melbourne, French-Parisian born artist Lucy Lucy's paintings capture the evolving folklore of the feminine, exploring the diversity and boundaries of heritage; the art and privilege of being a woman.

Sam Songailo @samsongailo

Sam Songailo's work takes form in painting, installation, video, sound and sculpture. He is deeply influenced by digital technology and electronic music.

Meet our 2019 Citizens of the Year

Frankston City's outstanding citizens for 2019 were honoured on Australia Day (26 January) for their selfless commitment to others, inspiring community spirit and dedication to volunteering.

Council is proud to announce our city's the 2019 Citizens of the Year are:

- Lauren Hornby: Citizen of the year
- Dr John Dickman: Senior Citizen of the Year
- Alicia Goldsworthy: Young Citizen of the Year

Each recipient received a special commemorative one dollar coin produced by the Perth Mint in celebration of the 70th anniversary of Australian citizenship, as well as a commemorative certificate.

Mayor, Michael O'Reilly said he was proud to honour these inspiring residents who give so much to the community and epitomise what it means to be Australian.

"Lauren, Alicia and John have given so much to the community and I'm proud to recognise their selfless achievements as we honour them as our 2019 Citizens of the Year," said the Mayor.

"They are each inspiring and courageous people who lead by example, displaying our Australian values and the importance of community spirit, volunteering and giving support to others throughout Frankston City."

Building communication skills for new parents

The transition to parenthood is a tricky one for all new parents. It can be overwhelming, exhausting and often nothing has prepared you for the demands of your new baby. Council offers many free avenues of support for new parents and guardians, including the three week Baby Makes 3 Program.

Course facilitator, Karen Walker believes the course is crucial for all new parents struggling to see issues from their partner's perspective.

"Dad might be feeling guilty he has to work and isn't home to help with the baby. Mum may never have thought of that. Meanwhile, mum might be feeling overwhelmed and socially isolated, which may never have occurred to dad. Through the program, couples learn how to communicate these feelings to each other.

For many fathers, this is their first opportunity to meet with other new parents.

"I had one group of five couples and by the end of the first sessions the dads had exchanged mobile numbers, had set up a fathers' group and were meeting once a week — which is a great example of the connections that can be made," Karen said.

School holiday ranger walks

During the April school holidays, Frankston City's Park Rangers will be sharing their knowledge of nature and the bush. We are very fortunate in Frankston City to have many natural areas to explore that provide a safe haven for our native wildlife.

Take a Guided Ranger Walk or a Spotlighting Night Tour in one of our very special natural bushland reserves and discover some fascinating wildlife facts. Bookings are essential through the Visitor Information Centre.

To book phone: 1300 322 842 or visitfrankston.com (a small fee applies)

Don't forget:
All pet registration renewal fees are due by 10 April

A taste of culture in Frankston City

Council is celebrating our cultural diversity on Harmony Day, in partnership with local food vendors. Several fantastic local cafés and businesses are getting behind Harmony Day by serving up a multi-cultural dish on Thursday 21 March. Check out the Harmony Day menu on Council's website and support this important day.

Harmony Day is a day of cultural respect for everyone who calls Australia home. In Frankston City, our residents' come from 118 countries and we want to celebrate and recognise the many cultures that make us who we are — from the oldest continuous culture of our first Australians to the cultures of our newest neighbour from around the world.

Local Harmony Day advocate Rob Wright from Eeny Meeny café.

The message of Harmony Day is "Everyone Belongs". The day aims to engage people to participate in their community, respect cultural and religious diversity and foster a sense of belonging for everyone.

Introducing VAN TOURISMO

Congratulations to local Andrew Cromlin who recently won Council's "Name Our Caddy" competition. Our city's tourism caddy will forever be known as VAN TOURISMO.

Frankston City's public arts, eclectic dining experiences, live music and year-round festivals and events come together to create an edgy urban vibe that is synonymous with our bayside city. Coupled with over 11kms of coastline and an abundance of natural outdoor spaces to relax, explore and celebrate, VAN TOURISMO perfectly describes Frankston City. Keep an eye out as you are driving through the city or while visiting public events for VAN TOURISMO, Frankston City's newest information service.

Congratulations Andrew, we hope you enjoy your prize pack. For activities and events in your area go to: visitfrankston.com

Register for kindergarten 2020

Registrations for 3-year-old kindergarten are now open and close on 30 September 2019

Kindergarten is important for children's learning and development and is a great place for children to make new friends before starting school.

Eat with your street

Neighbour Day is just around the corner and you can get a $100 BBQ pack to celebrate with your street.

Get to know your neighbours better and encourage those who live around you to join you for a BBQ or gathering on Neighbour Day, Sunday 31 March. Council has 15 BBQ packs worth $100 each to give away, so get in quick. Five lucky winners will also receive a souvenir street sign (drawn at random). Applications close 12pm

Friday 15 March. For information, visit: frankston.vic.gov.au/neighbourday or phone: 9768 1629

When you connect with the people who live nearby, you're showing you care about what happens locally and are directly supporting safe, friendly and resilient neighbourhoods.

Love Where You Live

Be part of a community project

Council's Community Strengthening Team is facilitating seven new community projects and we are seeking residents to be part of the working groups to help us make these ideas a reality. Members of the working group must live, work, study or play in the local area.

Each working group will be supported by Council staff and a small project budget. The groups will meet monthly at a local venue and also receive training opportunities to boost skills in the group. All seven groups will come together in March 2020 to present on their project.

The Love Where You Live initiative is a great way to get more involved in the community and contribute to a meaningful project. Aside from embarking on a fun new hobby and forming new local friendships, you will help create connections and build local pride in your suburb.

How to get involved

Register your interest for a project happening in your suburb at: frankston.vic.gov.au/lovewhereyoulive or phone: 1300 322 322

One project will occur in each of the seven following areas:

- Frankston North
- Frankston South
- Karingal
- Carrum Downs Skye and Sandhurst
- Langwarrin
- Frankston Central/Heights
- Seaford

Impact Volunteering

Volunteer Expo 2019

Impact Volunteering is a not-for-profit association passionate about community connection through matching and supporting volunteers and organisations.

Their annual Volunteer Expo is being held Wednesday 8 May at Lyrebird Community Centre, with the opportunity for organisations, agencies and individuals to showcase and enquire about available opportunities within their local community. Stall holder bookings are now open and FREE for all not-for-profit organisations. For more information and to book visit: impactvolunteering.org.au

Youth Week 2019

Young artists add colour to their community

A group of young local artists have come together to paint a bright and beautiful mural at Bayside Shopping Centre, as part of the recent Youth Celebrations at Bayside event.

Artists worked with local traders and organisations to bring some colour and art to the people of Frankston City, producing a piece that celebrated each artist's strength and drive in overcoming past obstacles.

The event also included live musicians and workshops run by local organisations and young volunteers, including Frankston Youth Service, Brotherhood of St Laurence, Frankston Skatepark/YMCA, Headspace Frankston, Whitelion, TaskForce and Chisholm Institute. Many local traders also supported the event, including PARC and food retailers. The artwork is located in the car park outside the top level food court of Bayside Shopping Centre. Why not take a visit today?

A wheelie good place to hangout

Frankston Youth Services' new 'WHAT Bus' is an awesome addition to the Youth Team and travels around to different areas in Frankston City connecting with local youth.

The bus offers loads of fun gaming options, including PS4, Xbox One, Wii-U, Uno and plenty more.

Also available for FREE is the use of laptops and iPads, enabling young people to work on resumes, do their homework or just surf the FREE internet.

There is always a great team of youth workers on hand to help and support youth, plus heaps of giveaways, competitions and prizes. Follow Frankston Youth Services on Instagram (@FrankstonYouthService) to find out where the WHAT Bus will be next.

Café giving Frankston City youth a second chance

Frankie's Café, based at the Frankston South Community and Recreation Centre offers disadvantaged young people a way back into work and school. The Council-run program provides hospitality training and support to young adults who have left mainstream education early.

Jarrah, 16 was part of the first group to participate in the program and helped to get Frankie's Cafe up and running.

"Each week we went over what we would need in the café if we were starting from scratch. We had a budget and it covered everything down to the smallest detail. We wrote inventory lists and priced everything against the budget. We looked at rent prices for a few places around the area as well. It was really insightful," said Jarrah.

Jarrah left school three years ago to be a full time carer to her mum and brother.

"My mum and brother both have severe muscular dystrophy. Five years ago, both were told they would have only 20 years to live, and then my mum deteriorated ridiculously quickly. My brother started to get worse too, so I had to leave school to look after them," Jarrah said.

The café also offers a mobile option in the form of a caravan called Frankie Goes To... — which is available for hire. Program graduates are given first preference to work at the mobile café when it is hired out for community functions and events.

Jarrah was recently part of a team working the van at an event.

"I get anxiety talking to people sometimes, and Justin (Youth Worker and Trainer) knew that, which is why he put me on front-of-house. All of us working the caravan on the day were put in roles that made us uncomfortable. By the end we were all killing it and it was great. It's taken that anxiety away," Jarrah says.

Frankie's Café follows a successful pilot program run at the Frankston North Community Centre.

For more information about the café and how to get involved visit: frankston.vic.gov.au/frankiescafe or phone: 9293 7122

Working towards a stronger Frankston City

During the November 2018 Victorian State Election, more than $1.2 billion worth of commitments were made to a range of programs and services in the Frankston City, including approximately $271.05 million towards Council's four priority projects.

Council is working hard to ensure the commitments of the re-elected Victorian Labor Government are delivered as a priority in the 2019-2020 Victorian Budget, while also advocating to both the Federal Government and Federal Opposition for funding towards these and other vital projects at the 2019 Federal Election.

Priority project updates

Rail extension

The Level Crossing Removal Project is undertaking a business case to support electrifying the existing Stony Point line from Frankston towards the Mornington Peninsula.

The business case is expected to be released in the coming months.

Marine safety

Thank you to everyone who participated in the Safe Boat Refuge and new Coast Guard building community consultation, from December 2018 to February 2019. Council is undertaking additional environmental studies before determining the status of this project

Jubilee Park indoor stadium

Throughout January to March, Council has facilitated a number of information sessions on the Jubilee Park Master Plan and initial concept designs for the proposed expansion to the indoor stadium.

Further community consultation and investigations are still to occur before plans are finalised.

Tennis and gymnastics at Centenary Park

Council has already pledged $11 million to relocate the Frankston Tennis Club and Bayside Gymnastics Club to a new building in Centenary Park, however contributions from both state and federal governments are needed for the project to proceed.

Building a better Ballarto Road Upgrading intersections

Prime Minister Scott Morrison and Minister for Cities, Urban Infrastructure and Population Alan Tudge visited Carrum Downs alongside Federal Member for Dunkley Chris Crewther announcing a $30 million upgrade intersections along Ballarto Road.

These include Greenwood Drive, Dion Drive, Potts Road and elsewhere to make the journey for hundreds of people safer and quicker.

Council has advocated to VicRoads on behalf of concerned residents for a number of years to have Ballarto Road upgraded and we're delighted to see the Federal Government is taking action.

Prime Minister Scott Morrison with Frankston City Mayor, Cr Michael O'Reilly

Seaford to sprout green

More than 100,000 native and indigenous plants will take root as part of the Level Crossing Removal Project's revitalisation of RF Miles Reserve in Seaford.

Frankston Indigenous Nursery, based in Kananook, is working with Yarra View Nursery to grow 10,000 of these plants from seed for the first stage of landscaping, beginning in March.

The plants are being grown from seeds collected in the Frankston area and include eucalypts, coastal banksias and native grasses.

Frankston Indigenous Nursery will reopen from early April. For more information visit: frankston.vic.gov.au/IndigenousNursery or come along to the open day Saturday 4 May. See Page 17 for more details.

The existing facilities at RF Miles Reserve in Seaford.

Supporting our sports-loving city

Works to upgrade football, netball and cricket facilities at RF Miles Reserve to meet the participation growth needs of Seaford Cricket Club and Seaford Football Netball Club will soon be underway, thanks to Council's successful advocacy to state and federal politicians in the lead up to the November 2018 election.

The redevelopment of RF Miles Reserve will include:

- A new two-storey pavilion with female-friendly facilities
- Larger oval (AFL standard), a new netball court and new cricket nets
- Car parking, bus stop, shared user paths and landscaping
- New oval lighting, scoreboard and interchange benches.

Start your career without barriers

Frankston City's parks and playgrounds

Frankston City offers plenty of parks and reserves to help keep you active and healthy. With a growing interest in local sport and an equally blooming population, we are always assessing and upgrading our facilities, to ensure our parks continue to serve the needs of our community.

Turning of the Sod at Ballam Park South pavilion

Ballam Park South new multi-purpose pavilion

Works on a new $4.25 million pavilion at Ballam Park South have commenced, marking a new era for the Peninsula Strikers Junior Football Club and the Frankston community with state of the art sports facilities.

The new pavilion will allow for flexibility in the scheduling of female soccer competitions and provide amazing facilities for this growing club.

This $3.8 million investment by Council demonstrates a continued commitment to providing quality sporting facilities for all residents.

The new pavilion will include eight female-friendly change rooms, umpire change rooms, a new kitchen and kiosk, a community meeting room, along with storage and first aid facilities.

Once completed, the new pavilion will add value to projects already undertaken at Ballam Park, including the Ballam Park East Pavilion, playground redevelopment and the new enclosed dog agility park.

The project is supported by:

- Victorian State Government ($100,000)
- Federal Government ($300,000)
- The Peninsula Strikers Junior Football Club ($50,000)

Works are expected to continue until early 2020. To learn more visit:

Seaford North Reserve upgrades

The new female-friendly change rooms at Seaford North

The sports pavilion at Seaford North Reserve, which is home to Seaford United Soccer Club has recently received an upgrade, including additional female-friendly change rooms — for use by players and umpires. A first aid room and store room complete the pavilion upgrade, with the reserve's car park also receiving a facelift. The works were undertaken to support the growth of female participation in sport, and to provide improved facilities for the wider community.

#FrankstonCity

There are many beautiful playgrounds scattered throughout our wonderful city, purpose built for all ages to enjoy. We are continually working to grow and improve equipment as it ages, or as a need is identified for a brand new play space.

Waterfront Playground revitalisation now complete

Works are complete on the redeveloped Waterfront play area, now featuring a diverse range of activities designed to cater for all levels of play.

The $1.2 million upgrade by Council involved demolition of existing aged equipment, refurbishment of the iconic 'pixie hats' (steel cone roofs) and installation of new junior and senior play spaces. These spaces utilise durable structural materials, more resilient to the harsh coastal environment.

The new playground design includes sand and water play zones, ramps, shelter, decks, new swings and slides. The works also included maintenance of existing trees and foliage.

The new George Pentland Botanic Gardens playground

New playground is a work of art

The coolest new playground in Frankston City is at George Pentland Botanic Gardens, and there's no better time than right now for young ones to put it through its paces.

Frankston City Mayor, Michael O'Reilly thanked the community for their patience while works were underway.

"While the works took a little bit longer than we initially expected, due to the bespoke nature of the new equipment, you'd have to agree that it's a pretty awesome new playground," said the Mayor.

The unique play space features an incredible sprout play sculpture designed by Melbourne sculptor, Damian Vick.

The two weathered steel trees sprout different play elements including scramble nets, a stainless steel slide, a tube slide and a disc climb. The play space, which complements the natural environment also includes a storytelling circle, U-turn audio unit, sand play zone, cubby frames and an inclusive carousel.

Council is proud to deliver and fund this new $700,000 play space and looks forward to seeing the community enjoy it for many years to come.

Encouraging the leaders of tomorrow

By Cr Sandra Mayer

I was honoured to speak at the launch of Project O at The Pines in December, involving Mahogany Rise Primary and Monterey Secondary College and supported by Rosie Batty and Member for Frankston Paul Edbrooke. Project O is a national award-winning primary prevention initiative of Big hART, which enables young women to be change-makers in their communities by building confidence, skills, agency and personal advocacy. Unique to the national program, Project O Frankston is piloting a new digital strategy, engaging young women in new digital skills and literacies.

I was moved in so many ways by this amazing event, not least because of the leadership and intelligence shown by these incredible young students. I have always believed it is critical for the next generation to understand and take action against issues such as violence in the home, bullying and social aggression, to ensure we break this vicious cycle.

I encouraged such displays of leadership in my address to students, asking that they always strive to be and do the best they can, whatever they choose to do in life. I spoke about the importance of learning from our mistakes and showing compassion for the mistakes of others. The other key point I tried to get across on the day was the importance of focusing on the 'why' of our actions. Understanding what motivates and drives us forward. It will often be necessary in life, when we have obstacles in our way or hurdles to overcome, to remember why we chose a certain career or path in life.

Never forget what it is that helps you get out of bed every morning and maintain your sense of purpose. I also strongly encouraged everyone to become active members of their community. Council has many opportunities for young people to become involved in local projects and advocacy, as a member of our Youth Council for example. And one day, it may well be this group of young leaders who grow in to our next generation of Frankston City Councillors.

Giving kids the best start in life

By Cr Michael O'Reilly, Mayor

Council has a huge roster of comprehensive programs available for families to take advantage of; providing support, advice and activities for caregivers, children and youth. In particular, parent and guardian education programs such as Baby Makes 3, Best Start, Early Parenting – Books and Babes among others help to transition caregivers into their new roles as parents and provide useful tips to help you through this challenging phase of life. I encourage everyone to take advantage of what these amazing programs can offer your family.

Vale Tony Hansen

It was with sadness I acknowledged the passing of our long-standing Christmas tree arborist, Tony Hansen late last year. Tony had assisted with the rigging of the Christmas lights on Frankston's famous Norfolk Pine since 2000 and it was the job he most looked forward to every year. A few years ago Tony started wearing his Santa suit while atop the tree. He loved to delight the kids who walked by on their way to school next door. It was always wonderful to have him as part of our Christmas Festival team. On behalf of Frankston City Council, I would like to again offer my condolences to Tony's family and friends. Thank you Tony for igniting the Christmas spirit in us all. You'll be sadly missed.

Bayport Reserve playground now open

As part of our commitment to improving playgrounds across the city, a concept plan was prepared last year for a playground upgrade at Bayport Reserve, Langwarrin. The plan included an expanded playground space with new equipment suitable for younger and older children, new concrete footpaths, social spaces with picnic tables and seats, and new tree and garden bed planting to provide shade and improve the park appearance. The project is now complete and the area open for families to enjoy. Please head down and make the most of this lovely new space while the weather is warm.

Surviving and thriving in the heat

By Cr Colin Hampton, Deputy Mayor

Frankston City is a great place to be year-round and the warmer months are no exception. If you are vacationing at home or looking for ways to keep the kids busy, our bustling city is full of ways to stay entertained. The Frankston Arts Centre and Frankston Library are ongoing sources of knowledge and entertainment for all ages and a great way to escape those hotter days. Likewise, our calendar of outdoor events and local parks and recreation facilities help you to make the most of the sunshine. Ongoing markets, walking trails and bike paths, beautiful parks and gardens are just some of the ways you can get out and enjoy this beautiful weather while it lasts. You can find a full list of things to do near you on the What's On page of Council's website and at: visitfrankston.com

Building a sustainable city

Of course there is another way to make the most of the sunshine – as a wonderful natural energy resource. As part of our Environmental Sustainability Policy, Council works hard to lead and deliver on best practice sustainability initiatives, to ensure we as a city leave the smallest possible carbon footprint. This includes installation of solar panels on Council-owned buildings. The North East Ward recently had twenty four kilowatts (kW) of new solar power installed by Council, with assistance from the Australian Government's Solar Communities Program in 2018.

The Langwarrin Community Centre (9.90 kW), Langwarrin Men's Shed (9 kW) and Langwarrin Tennis Club (5 kW) are all now benefiting from these installations, with the savings generated enabling the groups to provide other important community services. A total of 91 kilowatts of solar capacity was installed by Council in 2018, which is expected to reduce greenhouse gas emissions by around 140 tonnes each year. Installing solar is part of Council's bid to achieve zero net emissions by 2025 and will assist in reducing rising energy costs for both Council and our tenants. For more information on installing solar visit:

A new playground to enjoy

By Cr Brian Cunial

A revitalised playground recently opened at George Pentland Gardens and it has been a pleasure seeing the local children enjoy this unique play space. Looking more like a piece of art than a playground, the equipment compliments the natural environment and looks at home within the gardens. We were thrilled to be able to deliver this project for the local community. The new play area is a reflection of our dedication as a Council to providing the best possible facilities for the city's residents and we will continue to deliver more important projects throughout the year.

Investing in our kids' future

Paratea Preschool also recently underwent a significant refurbishment, including a complete internal fit out and construction of a new entrance. The new facility was completed in February and the $400,000 investment from Council will help to ensure our children are given the best possible start to what will be a lifetime of learning.

Love Where You Live

The Love Where You Live Community Projects initiative has revealed a strong sense of community pride in our residents. We recently put a call out for working group members in Frankston and Frankston Heights, to help construct pop up veggie planter boxes across these suburbs. The strong response we received was wonderful to see and is indicative of the desire to keep improving communal spaces for all of our benefit. To participate in a project in your area, visit Council's website for more information.

International Women's Day

By Cr Quinn McCormack

International Women's Day (IWD), 8 March, provides an opportunity to celebrate women's successes and promote shared ownership for driving gender parity. As world renowned feminist Gloria Steinem said, "The story of women's struggle for equality belongs to no single feminist nor to any one organisation but to the collective efforts of all who care about human rights." In seeking gender parity, we improve circumstances and achieve equality for all. Council participates in an annual awareness raising event to commemorate IWD.

Malala Yousafzai visited Melbourne in 2018 and has had an extraordinary journey, from rural Pakistan to the United Nations. Malala is the youngest recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize and is a campaigner for women's rights and education. Her incredible courage in the face of adversity is inspiring, as some members of our community were fortunate enough to hear firsthand.

As an appointed Ambassador for One Girl Australia — an organisation raising funds primarily to provide education for girls in Sierra Leone and Uganda (some of the toughest places in the world to be born a girl) — the statistics are devastating. More than 130 million girls globally are not being educated simply because they are born female. Annually, more than 15 million girls are forced into child marriage. Of the world's illiterate adult population, more than two-thirds are women. Believing in empowering girls and women to reach their potential and achieve their dreams, I accepted an opportunity to make a real difference and highlight these issues.

In October, our community raised almost $10,000 — a tally placing us on top of the leaderboard for individual fundraising across Australia! By raising money to provide education to girls and give them access to equipment we have helped girls to reach their potential. It is fantastic, Frankston was recognised for supporting female education. Education is important because educated girls become educated women, sisters, mothers, teachers, mentors, leaders, entrepreneurs, etc. Women who wield influence in the home, classroom, community, and wider society. Women who challenge the status quo; women who want to see the next generation of girls flourish and thrive. We must remember that every single girl is capable of becoming a leader, mentor, change maker — and education gives her the opportunity.

Celebrating our SES

By Cr Steve Toms

In December, I was privileged to award Frankston State Emergency Service (SES) unit members their years of service certificates, on behalf of Frankston City Mayor, Michael O'Reilly. The SES work tirelessly throughout the year to help keep us safe; donating their time to this great organisation. Well done to the long serving members who received their certificates, including my friend and past Unit Controller, Brian McMannis. I thank all members for their service to our community, on behalf of Frankston City.

Beautifying our city

I have been working closely with our Parks and Gardens team to see how we can make small changes to improve the city's look and feel. The team identified the corner of Baxter and Davey Streets as an area in need of a little love. The team has recently installed Lomandras and Dieties species, as they are a hardy and attractive native plant. We are now looking at the feasibility of continuing the gardens further along Davey St and Baxter St. I encourage residents to contact Council if you know of an area in need of attention.

Supporting local trade

Take some time to visit the Frankston Makers' Market in Young Street, held on the third Saturday of every month. The market is one of many held regularly across Frankston City and showcases the incredible skill of local stallholders. It is also an opportunity to branch out from Melbourne's large shopping centres and see what your local traders have to offer. Thank you also to those who attended last month's Waterfront Festival. It was wonderful to see so many of you celebrating responsibly.

Staying safe in the heat

We all love these warmer months but they also come with some risks. Please ensure you and your family wear adequate protection from the sun, check in on a loved one if they are at risk and never leave children in locked cars. It is also important to stay hydrated and be able to recognise the signs of heat stroke in yourself and others. Lastly, please make sure you are taking steps to keep pets cool and hydrated during the day, especially if no one will be home.

Positive community outcomes

By Cr Kris Bolam JP FAIM

I love animals, and believe our city should take a “carrot and stick” approach to animal management, which is why I’m proud to have recently implemented the following:

- FREE annual registration for service dogs
- FREE initial registration for pets adopted via Council’s pound service
- An “adoption lottery” whereby 15 animals are given away FREE each year following Council’s annual Pets’ Day Out event — including annual registration
- Increased advertising to encourage residents to adopt from Council’s pound
- For dogs declared “menacing”, in order for Council to consider removal of this status, the dog must have undertaken accredited obedience training
- Coming soon — discounts on annual registrations to encourage obedience training for dogs

In 2018, Council also adopted a Return Home Policy whereby if an animal is collected by our officers, they will attempt to return it home without penalty, on the proviso that it is registered, displaying tags and has no previous history.

New grant categories

I was also successful in having several additional community grants introduced to supplement Council’s Miscellaneous Grants allotment. These include:

- Urgent Grants: For community groups in need of urgent funding for unexpected needs
- Environmental Sustainability Grants: For community groups committed to improving the local environment
- Neighbourhood Grants: For community groups or individuals seeking to improve local perception and connect their community
- Youth Action Grants: For youth orientated community groups or student councils seeking to improve our area through specific projects

Council also introduced a Community Group Membership Drive Grant, increasing Council’s Miscellaneous Grants from $15,000 with four categories to $45,000 with nine categories — which is great news.

Karingal Hub redevelopment approved

In October 2018 Council approved a $62 million redevelopment of Karingal Hub. Plans include an additional 762 FREE car parks, outdoor terraces, a multi-level restaurant and fenced kids’ play area, mezzanine, town square, improved accessibility and the inclusion of public art, green walls and street furniture. Council also secured additional tree planting along Karingal Drive and Cranbourne Road.

I commend Karingal Hub and ISPT Property for working with Council on this project, which will create around 200 jobs during construction and 300 ongoing jobs once complete.

Trash and treasure

By Cr Glenn Aitken

The annual community celebration of hard waste collection is almost upon us! Many of us were inconvenienced when the collection did not take place last November, however this April nature strips will be adorned with all manner of strange curiosities. There is, I think, more to this collection than we initially think. First, it has almost become a type of urban ritual anticipated, celebrated, fulfilling. Secondly, and less favourably, it is symbolic of Western lifestyle; live, consume, die. Millions of dollars are spent annually on furniture or commodities that are consciously produced by unprincipled manufacturers, with an anticipated three, five or ten year lifespan, to then be thrown away.

With basic research, or more careful choices, we are capable of changing that by either paying more in the first instance for better quality or generally buying more wisely, which ultimately saves us money and reduces waste in our environment. For example, whatever happened to needle and thread? Is it such an encumbrance to patch up clothes that are wearing or darn good socks that are thinning? Thirdly, on the ‘flip-side’ treasure can be found in the waste. I found a beautiful tile, made about 1880 by the famous Minton Pottery Works in England, on a nature strip in Dandenong. Someone I know well discovered a large, heavy elaborate gilt frame made by Thallon of Melbourne circa 1880. Thallon made frames for the great Australian artists such as Henry McCubbin, Tom Roberts and Arthur Streeton. Their iconic works today are measured in the millions of dollars. The old frame on its own would fetch a thousand dollars. But where did the painting it held go? And perhaps more pertinently who did it? Perhaps it held a fabulous work by Streeton, never recorded and now lost forever.

Back in the 1970s, I was told the story of an odd jobs man who noticed a chair thrown out on a nature strip in the South Yarra area. He picked it up because he just somehow ‘liked’ it. Seeing signs of rich, old timber beneath the paint, he subsequently carefully removed the paint, revealing in all its beauty a very fine English Chippendale chair from the 18th Century, worth thousands of dollars. Or the American a few years back who found a suitcase filled with a remarkable collection of photos, documents, etc. — worth around quarter of a million dollars. Murano Glass, Featherstone chairs, Australian pottery and the list goes on. Trash and treasure. Waste not want not!

If you decide to explore this year’s hard waste offerings, please do so respectfully, and seek permission from the householder before removing item from their nature strip. Please also be mindful not to disturb piles as this makes collecting more cumbersome and time consuming for our contractors.

Disability Week

By Cr Lillian O'Connor

One in five people in Australia have a disability. It’s no secret I have a disability myself and I am very proud of it. Unfortunately, disabilities often come with a harsh stigma I have unfortunately experienced and still do to this day. I want to prove that people with a disability can do anything and excel in life, all it takes is a ‘never give up’ attitude. I had the pleasure of being asked to host and speak at the Enabling Women with Disabilities Graduation Ceremony held at Chisholm Institute late last year. This was a wonderful celebration of female empowerment and I was fortunate to meet some amazing individuals, who have dreams and goals they want to achieve and are working hard towards this.

NDIS — a work in progress

The National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is something that was desperately needed for a long time, to enable people with disabilities to access the right support. Whilst it is great to have a national insurance system in place, in my view there are teething problems. People fall through the cracks and there are other systematic issues with the scheme. In my view, the NDIS still has a long way to go to ensure it is a consistent and fair model for all people with disabilities.

Frankston Life Community Christmas Lunch

For those who have lost their loved ones, are homeless or simply cannot afford presents, Christmas is not the enjoyable event it should be. Last year, I was fortunate enough to serve food, hand out presents and talk to many people during the free Christmas lunch hosted by not-for-profit organisation, Frankston Life at the Frankston Arts Centre. It warmed my heart to see everyone enjoying themselves together. A wonderful initiative.

Hard waste and bundled green waste collection 2019

Council is providing a kerbside hard waste and bundled green waste collection for Frankston city residents, commencing late April through to June.

Households will receive notification in the mail two weeks prior to their collection week, detailing when their street's hard waste will be collected and what items can be accepted.

In early 2018, Council commenced a tender process to secure a kerbside hard waste and bundled green waste collection service for the 2018–2019 financial year. We were successful in securing a contractor, however due to scheduling conflicts, the annual city-wide collection service was moved from its usual October to December timeframe. We realise this change may have inconvenienced some residents and we thank you for your understanding. The choice to postpone hard waste collection until later in the financial year meant Council was able to save the city approximately $500,000 in additional costs.

Each household can place up to two cubic metres, sorted into five neat stacks — hard waste, scrap metal and whitegoods, e-waste and fridges, green waste and mattresses. Waste is to be placed out on the nature strip no more than two days prior to the start of their collection week. Council strictly enforces rules around hard waste collection, with penalties starting at $200.

What is accepted for collection?

- Hard waste – furniture including mattresses and bed bases, clothing, lawn mowers, hot water systems, electrical items and timber
- Scrap metal, whitegoods, DVD players, computers, TVs — you can drop these items off at FRRRC for free
- Bundled green waste

What won't be picked up?

- Tyres, wheels or car batteries
- Renovation, building or demolition materials, fencing, rubble, soil, bricks or concrete
- Dangerous goods (e.g. paints, oils, poisons or pool chemicals)
- Hazardous waste (e.g. asbestos, cement sheeting or sharps)
- Gas bottles, fuel tanks or water tanks
- Unwrapped glass
- Household garbage
- Recyclables suitable for household recycling bins
- Untied green waste or green waste in plastic bags
- Waste from industrial and commercial premises and businesses operated from home

A space for wildlife to flourish

Our Gardens for Wildlife program officially launches in May, to help provide sustainable areas for local birds and animals.

The free program will provide simple and practical advice for creating wildlife-friendly gardens at home, and will launch during the Indigenous Nursery Open Day, Saturday 4 May. Special guest presenter AB Bishop, author of one of Australia's top selling gardening book Habitat will present on the values of, and her passion for, habitat gardening. AB Bishop is a highly respected horticulturist, conservationist, writer and habitat consultant with a wealth of experience. Habitat is a practical and beautifully designed guide for anyone wanting to create their own wildlife haven at home.

The Open Day will include plenty of other activities, including nursery tours, meet and greet with local wildlife carers, friends groups and nursery volunteers and a sausage sizzle. See the Greening Our Future Calendar on page 17 for more information.

Did you know?

Raingardens are specially designed garden beds that filter storm water runoff from surrounding areas or stormwater pipes. They are low-maintenance, not needing to be watered, mowed or fertilised and can be adapted for different locations, shapes and sizes.

Council adopts Towards Zero Emissions Plan

In January 2019, Council adopted its Towards Zero Emissions Plan (2019–2023), to assist Council and the community avoid and reduce greenhouse gas emissions and their impact on climate change.

Council would like to thank community members who provided feedback on the draft plan.

The plan outlines Council's priorities over the next four years to progress towards its ambitious zero net emissions target (i.e. to be carbon neutral) by 2025.

Some of the key actions of the plan include a continued focus and investment by Council in energy efficiency and renewable energy technologies, preparing for a bulk replacement of street lights on minor roads to energy efficient LEDs in 2019, as well as offering targeted services and support to help the Frankston City community reduce emissions.

Koalas on the move

Not everyone is aware that our treed areas within Frankston South and Langwarrin South are home to the iconic koala.

Recently there has been an increase in the number of koala sightings in these areas with frequent reports being made to social media (particularly near the Frankston Nature Conservation Reserve).

Sightings are more common during the koala breeding season, August to February, when the young from the previous year leave their mothers and disperse and during heatwaves.

This is a timely reminder to keep your dogs on leads.

Any sightings of injured wildlife should be reported to a local wildlife rescue service. Visit: frankston.vic.gov.au/wildlife

Frankston City Business Grants 2018-2019

Providing a boost for our local economy

The local economy has received a significant boost thanks to the Frankston City Business Grants Program. Council has awarded a total of $120,000 to this year's eight recipients, who are expected to generate up to 35 new jobs in the municipality.

According to Frankston City Mayor, Michael O'Reilly this year's program attracted a record number of applications from a diverse range of businesses.

"Not only did we receive a number of high quality applications from across the city, but also from businesses looking to invest in Frankston City," said the Mayor.

"Council has recognised the previous success of the Frankston City Business

Grants Program in supporting the local business community and has doubled the funding available.

"We're incredibly proud of the fact that all but two of the 27 previously funded grant recipients continue to thrive in Frankston City. The aim for this grants program is to give local businesses an opportunity to take their next step towards success, which ultimately benefits our city's economy. It's amazing to see the number of businesses we have in the area doing awesome things and being leaders in their industries."

The Frankston City Business Grants Program has made a significant difference to Frankston City and the success of its recipients – leading to the creation of around 456 jobs and an injection of more than $162 million gross revenue to the local economy since 2012.

"Small business is the backbone of our community and the Frankston City Business Grants Program is one of the city's most significant initiatives to create and grow the number of locally available jobs; moving us closer to becoming the Lifestyle Capital of Victoria."

#FrankstonCity

Local sports to benefit from Carrum Downs upgrade

Carrum Downs Recreation Reserve has received an upgrade to Oval 2, as plans progress for installation of a new synthetic sports field.

The sporting field is the first of its kind for Frankston City, chosen as a low maintenance and tougher option for sporting use. Synthetic sporting fields can be used more regularly, require less water and means play isn't weather dependent.

The new synthetic field will provide for several sporting activities at the reserve, including soccer, AFL and cricket. The facility will establish the reserve as a regional training hub, with quality sports lighting and a playing surface for state/regional competitions.

Carrum Downs Cricket Club has been using the newly reconstructed Oval 2 and has flagged the upgrades as a boost for the club.

"The club greatly appreciates all the hard work done by Council, State Member Sonya Kilkenny and club volunteers for the new facilities. The facilities are not only beneficial to club members who now have two first class ovals to play and train on, but will also be appreciated by the community as a whole," says Carrum Downs Cricket Club President, Russell Blackburn.

Overport Park oval improvement works

Overport Park Oval 2 is now under development. The revitalised oval will be ready for use from April, and will support the growth and improvement of the Baden Powell Cricket Club, Frankston Dolphins Junior Football Club and Frankston Dolphins Football and Netball clubs.

"The new club rooms upgrade means a great deal to both the Frankston Dolphins Senior and Junior Football Clubs. New facilities will allow us to provide a great environment for both boys and girls with unisex toilets and change rooms designed for both male and female participants. We will be able to host club functions including sponsor nights with our state-of-the-art kitchen which is an integral part of the sustainability of any sporting club," says Frankston Dolphins Football and Netball Club Council Liaison, Nick Old.

A new pavilion for Overport Park

Works on a new $3.825 million pavilion are underway, to provide the Frankston community with new state-of-the-art sports facilities.

Frankston City Mayor, Michael O'Reilly said the new pavilion will contribute significant opportunities to grow the profile of female participation in AFL and cricket throughout Frankston City.

"This $3.825 million investment will provide a sustainable, multi-purpose facility that meets the current and future needs of the community," said the Mayor.

The project is supported by:

- Frankston City Council ($3.625 million)
- State Government ($100,000)
- Joint contribution from the Frankston Dolphins Junior Football Club, Frankston Dolphins Football Netball Club and the Baden Powell Cricket Club ($100,000)
- The Federal Government has also contributed an additional $19,711 to the project

The new pavilion will include:

- Four female-friendly change rooms, umpire rooms

- New kitchen and kiosk
- Multi-purpose community room
- Meeting room along with office space
- First aid facilities

The upgrade will also include new public toilets.

Expected completion: December 2019

Seaford North Reserve car park and playground

In addition to the pavilion redevelopment, car park works have also commenced at Seaford North Reserve in January, with completion expected by April.

The works will be staged to ensure minimal impact for reserve users and the 2019 soccer season. The first section will be the eastern section near the soccer club rooms. Once these works are complete, works will begin on the western section from the public toilets to the playground. A $300,000 upgrade to the playground is also underway, expected to be completed by May 2019.

Temporary closure of McClelland Reserve works

Council is working to reconfigure the dog free roam area and Frankston Dog Obedience Club grounds.

Works will include top dressing the area with soil to reduce ponding of water caused by rain. The club grounds and dog free roam area will remain closed until mid-April 2019 to allow grass to re-establish.

A contractor was also appointed to undertake car park works at the reserve, which commenced in mid-

February. Works are being staged to ensure minimal impact for reserve users and the 2019 soccer season. The first section will be the southern section near the soccer club rooms. Once these works are completed, the contractor will open this section of car park and begin works on the northern section. The car park will fully reopen approximately mid-May.

Foreshore murals delight

New beach themed murals now adorn the walls of three foreshore toilet blocks, previously plagued by tagging and graffiti.

The toilets near the Waterfront Playground, Frankston Yacht Club and the Seaford Life Saving Club now boast colourful images of marine life and local birds.

Frankston City Mayor, Cr Michael O'Reilly said the murals were already working to deter graffiti and tagging in the area.

"We want the community to feel safe when using facilities like our public toilets. It's important that these are kept in a clean and inviting state," said the Mayor.

"We've taken a pro-active approach to the problem of tagging by engaging local artists, Melissa and Brigitte from Melbourne's Murals and Design to paint these beautiful murals inside the toilet blocks," the Mayor said.

The work of these talented artists is already a favourite with locals with their Alice in Wonderland mural featured at Frankston Library.
